

We know that school is an opportunity to spread many infectious diseases that are vaccine preventable. We want to really encourage parents not to forget those immunizations – make sure they are up to date, look over the records, and get them done.